Sir David Willcocks Organ Scholarship

Clifton College
in partnership with
Bristol Cathedral

Through its 150 years, Clifton College has been noted for the importance it attaches to organists and organs in the school's musical life. It has nurtured generations of Old Cliftonian musicians including Boris Ord (Director of Music at King's College, Cambridge, 1929-57), the one-handed Dr Douglas Fox (famed for his radio broadcasts and recitals), Dr C.S. Lang, and Sir David Willcocks himself. More recent alumni include Charles Matthews (winner of the Franz Liszt Organ Competition), Andrew Nethsingha (Director of Music at St John's College, Cambridge), and current Oxbridge organ scholars. All have benefited from the four-manual organ in the College chapel, still maintained by its original maker, Harrison and Harrison.

Sir David Willcocks MC CBE (1919-2015)
Old Cliftonian
Director of Music, King's College, Cambridge (1957-73)

Present-day life at the College — daily assemblies with hymns (the congregational singing supported by the College's 2012 Hymn Book), choral services on Sundays, and the numerous concerts and oratorios performed in the chapel with the organ — ensures that the instrument and its players remain at the heart of College life. A 32-foot extension of the Pedal Ophicleide reed at Clifton College was installed in autumn 2017, and a CD recorded by Regent Records of the College choirs with pupil organists and brass was recorded in 2018 to celebrate this addition.

The supporting Music Department of the College is nationally recognised for its achievement: it was specifically highlighted for its 'exceptionally high standards of musical performance' in the 2011 ISI inspection report. Amongst current and recent pupils it numbers regular concerto soloists, accomplished composers, and those who study at the Junior Conservatoires in Cardiff and London. At Clifton, they perform in over 60 services, recitals, concerts, and productions each year, both in College, locally (including St George's, Brandon Hill), and further afield, in London and on tour.

In 2012, Sir David Willcocks announced his generous commitment to a new sixth-form organ scholarship in his name at Clifton College. A partnership with Bristol Cathedral was established to augment the role, and the inaugural Willcocks Scholar was appointed in 2013, with subsequent appointments in 2015 and 2017.

Both institutions are pleased to announce their intention to appoint a new suitably qualified candidate to the prestigious position of the Sir David Willcocks Organ Scholar for September 2021. This 16+ post is for a sixth-form entrant, running for two years. Candidates may also jointly apply for the 16+ academic scholarships. The successful candidate will receive £5000 a year from the David Willcocks Trust as well as generous means-tested funding towards the rest of either a boarding or day-pupil place, which could be as much as 100% of fees.

The requirements made of forthcoming candidates are as follows:

- to be of at least Grade 7 standard or equivalent on the organ by September 2020
- to have an interest in a university/conservatoire organ scholarship after Clifton
- will take A-level Music together with supplementary training in theoretical and keyboard skills (A-level Music Technology is also offered at the College)
- must fulfil the standard Sixth-Form academic entry requirements of the College

The organ scholar will benefit from the wide range of musical opportunities provided by the College and its partner institution, Bristol Cathedral:

- use of the four-manual organs of Clifton College Chapel (Harrison and Harrison, 1911, alt. 1977/2017, rest. 1994, above left) and Bristol Cathedral (Walker and Sons, 1907, rest. 1989, 2004, above right) as well as other practice organs (specifications below).
- weekly experience of training and playing for Cathedral evensong, mentored by the Cathedral Sub-Organist, involving individually-tailored programmes to develop the necessary skills for accompanying psalms, hymns and anthems
- free tuition on a second instrument and/or voice: organ scholars are strongly encouraged to join ensembles and give recitals/concertos on second instruments, and take a full role in choirs, whether as singer or conductor

- full support in supplementary studies, such as Grade 8 Theory, the paperwork components of the Royal College of Organists exams (CertRCO to FRCO), and Oxbridge/conservatoire interviews and admissions tests
- in highly flexible combination with the full-time College Organist, accompanying the College Chapel and Chamber choirs, playing for the College's weekday morning short services and Sunday morning services and evensongs, as well as on regular trips to other cathedrals/Oxbridge colleges
- performance opportunities with Clifton's current ensembles, including the Symphony Orchestra, String Orchestra, Brass Group, Jazz Workshop, Soul Bands, numerous classical chamber groups, as well professional orchestral accompaniment by the Bristol Ensemble at the annual Summer Serenade Concert (Brahms, Sibelius and Poulenc concertos played in 2014; Handel, Wieniawski, Chaminade and Kabalevsky concertante works in 2015; Guilmant, Finzi and Haydn in 2018; Boëllmann, Hummel and Shostakovich in 2019)
- first-class music facilities in the refurbished Joseph Cooper Music School, complete with its suite of Yamaha practice pianos, grand pianos, harpsichord, state-of-the-art recording studio, multiple classrooms fully equipped with Apple Macs, and the support of a department of six full-time staff members and over 30 visiting music teachers
- support to take advantage where appropriate of the vibrant organ scene in Bristol, with its fine array of instruments including, in addition to those of the College and Cathedral, the organs at St Mary Redcliffe and at the Colston Hall, and in the numerous parish churches and chapels of the city; moreover, opportunities with the friendly and very active Bristol and District Organists' Association.

Naturally, there is the full range of academic opportunities in the Clifton College Sixth Form, alongside its sporting, pastoral and co-curricular programmes. Organ and choral scholarships continue to be secured by pupils. An organ scholarship to Oxford was won in 2019, an organ scholarship to Cambridge in 2018, a choral scholarship to Oxford in 2017, and a total of 18 Oxbridge places were won by Cliftonians for October 2015 entry, including two Oxford organ scholarships. Recent Oxbridge offers for Music include Cambridge (Clare, Trinity, St John's), with several offers for places at prestigious music conservatoires and colleges (RAM, RCM, Trinity Laban, Vienna).

The Director of Music, Mr Daniel Robson BA PGCE, and the College Organist, Mr James Drinkwater MA FRCO, are always happy to meet potential music scholars and to arrange visits to the College.

Oxbridge and cathedral scholarships beyond Clifton – 2015, 2018, 2020 –

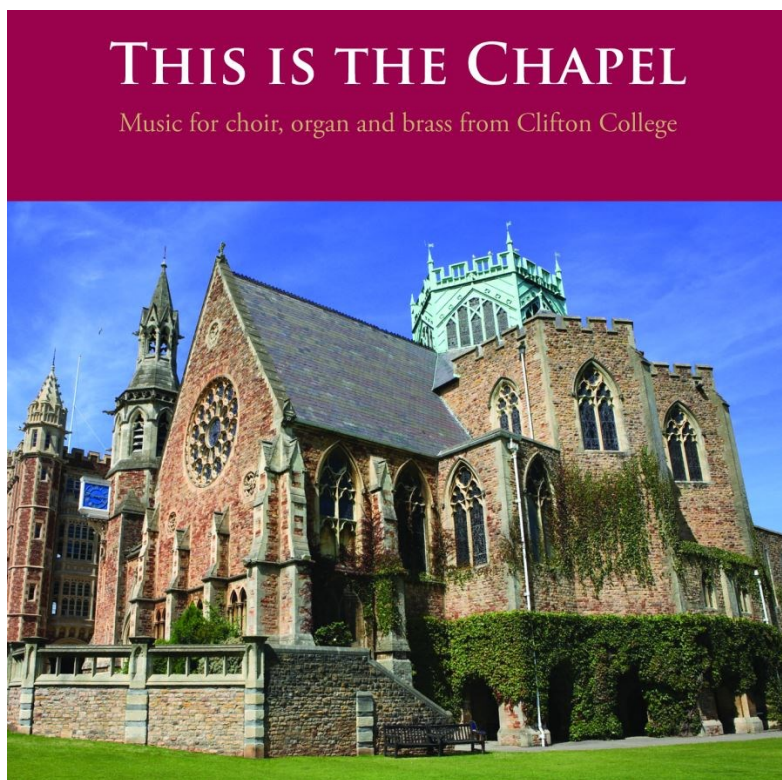

Two organ scholarships at Oxford University, together with places to read Music, were won by Clifton College sixth-form scholars in 2015: Alexander Palotai (WaH) gained the organ scholarship to Worcester College; Bartosz Thiede (SH) the Parry-Wood Organ Scholarship at Exeter College.

Henry Metcalfe, SH (pictured centre right), who served at Sir David Willcocks Organ Scholar 2016-18, spent his gap year as Organ Scholar at Hereford Cathedral. He appeared on the new 2018 Clifton College CD - This is the Chapel - in recital repertoire and a newly composed anthem.

Romain Bornes (pictured right), Willcocks Organ Scholar 2018-20 has now begun his Magdalen College Oxford organ scholarship, having gained the ARCO diploma from the Royal College of Organists in Upper Sixth. You can see Romain in action at the Clifton console on the video link here!

Clifton College Chapel Organ Specification

The present organ was built by Harrison & Harrison in 1911, incorporating pipework from a previous Father Willis. In 1977 the actions were converted from pneumatic to electro-pneumatic and some tonal changes (marked * below) were made. The organ was overhauled in 1994, when a new combination action was provided, and the Double Ophicleide (†) was added in 2017.
