Easter Revision Courses

Prepare to Achieve.

Monday 12th - Friday 16th April 2021

Our Courses

After a year of disruption in all schools across the UK, traditional examinations for GCSE and A-Levels have been cancelled, however, assessments have not.

Easter Revision courses at Clifton College have always been about preparing students to achieve in their assessments, and this year is no different in that respect.

The personal support that our teachers are able to provide students at our Easter Revision courses will help solidify foundations on subject knowledge as well as developing new assessment skills.

Beyond passing this year's assessments, the additional support of our tutors will also ensure that foundations are prepared for future success, particularly for those students who will be moving on to A-Levels and University courses in the future.

However your personal learning journey has unfolded over the past year, we welcome you to prepare to achieve at Clifton College Easter Revision courses.

Beyond passing this year's assessments, the additional support of our tutors will also ensure that foundations are laid for future success.

Course Focus

Students at our Easter Revision courses benefit from small classes, allowing our tutors to give as much attention as possible to each individual.

Our course tutors will be in touch with students before their course to determine individual needs and requirements. This ensures that tuition sessions are focused on ensuring every individual's success.

Whilst there is never enough time to cover two years' worth of subject matter, tutors will ensure that classes cover both common problem areas and course content that individual students find challenging.

Many of our course tutors are either current or past examiners for awarding organisations and so are well-placed to help students identify areas that may require further attention.

Lesson time will also be devoted to assessment technique. This year that will mean preparing students for a different kind of assessment than they may be used to.

Students are encouraged to Speak to their term-time school teachers before attending their course, finding out what areas their teachers suggest may need development and obtaining details of planned assessment activities.

Some tutors may issue homework tasks throughout the week to supplement classroom learning and to provide additional feedback opportunities.

After each student's week of learning, they will receive an individual report from their tutor, to support their progress after their course.

Course Details

Students may study either one or two subjects throughout their week (Monday 12th - Friday 16th April 2021) at our Easter Revision course.

Each subject runs Monday to Friday in either morning (0900-1230) or afternoon (1330-1700) sessions. Each session allows for 3 hours of tuition plus breaks, totalling 15 hours of tuition per week.

Students who study two subjects on-site will receive a hot buffet lunch.

Students joining us online will be facilitated using Zoom video conferencing software and will receive the same engaging tuition and attention as our face-to-face learners.

Those students joining us for face-to-face learning will experience all of the COVID safety controls that one would expect from a top independent boarding school. Information on these controls will be provided in course joining instructions.

Full course terms and conditions can be found here.

Courses are £450 per subject and include 15 hours of tuition across five days, either in person or online.
